

THE GLOBE PROGRAM

A Worldwide Science and Education Program

The GLOBE (Global Learning and Observations to Benefit the Environment) program is an international science and education program that focuses on promoting scientific literacy and building connections between people passionate about the environment.

GLOBE has three primary goals: increasing Environmental awareness, contributing to increased scientific understanding of the earth and supporting improved student achievement in science and mathematics. By participating in GLOBE, students, teachers, researchers and lifelong learners can connect with the program's global community.
